New LibGuide for SEAL Users

Training materials for SEAL are consolidated into one handy guide that you can view here! This guide includes the SEAL manual, tutorial videos, an FAQ, our ILLiad Add-on, and other useful resources. We will continually update it to reflect the needs of the SEAL community. If you have any questions or comments about the guide, or SEAL more generally, contact Resource Sharing and Cataloging Librarian Kelsey Milner.

Referenda Roundup

American Libraries feature, Nov.

This national roundup of library referenda, tax levies, and bond measures decided by voters in the November election will be updated frequently in the coming days as final tallies roll in. Other measures voted on earlier in the year will also be added in. A summary will appear in the January/February 2019 issue of American Libraries.

By the Numbers: Picture Book Month

American Libraries feature, Nov./Dec

Alison Marcotte writes, “November was designated Picture Book Month in 2011 by Dianne de Las Casas and fellow children’s book authors and illustrators Katie Davis, Elizabeth Dulemba, Tara Lazar, and Wendy Martin. The international literacy initiative was in response to a 2010 New York Times article, ‘Picture Books No Longer a Staple for Children.’ Here are some statistics to celebrate picture book history, authors, illustrators, and awards.”

FREE, Brand New Art Books!

As the holiday season approaches, there are few better ways to celebrate than sharing a new collection of free art books! Don’t forget to place your annual order through A.R.T.’s (Art Resources Transfer) Distribution to Underserved Communities Library Program (D.U.C.).

The D.U.C. provides public schools and libraries with free books on contemporary art and culture. All public institutions who self-define as underserved are eligible to place annual, unrestricted orders. Visit the A.R.T. website to create an account and view their book catalog.

The New York Library Association's \(NYLA\) Library Leadership and Management Academy is an educational program for emerging leaders in the library profession. Participants gain the skills and knowledge they need to advance up the career ladder in library management. Enrollment is limited to 40 students each year. Enrollees are required to complete ten courses over a three year period to receive a Leadership and Management Academy Certificate.

NYLA is in the process of restructuring the program; enrollment will reopen in Summer 2019.

What Happens When You Destroy a Library Book

Literary Hub, Nov. 7

Kristen Arnett writes, “It’s happened to all of us. After a hellish week, you decided to take your book in the bathtub to relax and whoops! You reached for your beer and accidentally dipped the book in the bath water like you were dunking a biscotti in your morning coffee. Or maybe you left it on the floor and like the much-fabled homework devourer, your dog ate it. Perhaps you left it on an airplane, in a rental car, or at that ex-girlfriend’s house that you’re never ever speaking to again because you’ve faked your own death to avoid them at all costs. What happens when it’s a library book?”
